Description

Over four years, you'll gain hands-on experience while working towards your qualifications. You'll learn through challenging audit work, build relationships with clients and develop technical, personal and commercial skills as your experience grows.

You'll join a trainee community, work towards your qualifications alongside your peers and learn from colleagues at different levels across the organisation.

Our early careers people talk about being trusted with client work earlier than they expected, while having supportive teams around them and feeling comfortable asking questions as they learn.

You'll build your career foundations by doing the work, with the coaching and support to help your confidence grow. When you complete the programme, there's a permanent role waiting for you.
