

Sustainability Taster Course (Climate Crisis)

Location: Calderdale

Posted: 11th January 2022

Employer: Todmorden Community College

Role type: Training

Entry Requirements:

This vacancy is a stepping stone towards employment. Although it is not a job vacancy, it prepares people for employment and helps to build the skills needed in the workplace.

This is a free 6 month sustainability education taster course, delivered by the Todmorden Community College and run 5 days a week, Monday to Friday, 9.30am - 4.30pm.

The course includes activities in Todmorden around environmental land management, natural building, repair and reuse, energy saving and renewable generation schemes.

This course is designed for young people who are keen to make a difference, help tackle the climate crisis and gain the knowledge and know how for going into jobs in the green economy.

Grades don't matter as much as your passion for learning and skilling up for the future. If you want to learn more about climate change and experience hands-on activities, such as building, renewable energy, farming, and growing, then this is the course for you.

This course is accredited by ASDAN and you will receive a certificate on completion.

There are 4 modules:

- Understanding the climate crisis
- Food production and land management
- Renewable Energy
- Sustainable building
